Galante is a reversible dishforfood to taste from appetizer until the dessert, always using the same plate, in different times or simultaneously, becoming an alternative to the historical “trilogy” of plane-bowl-dessert and suggesting “another manner” to enjoy the food.

Sum of research, design and culinary art, it is a single object instead of three: at the same service level, Galante allows a low financial impact of the manufacturing process, good opportunity for design sellers and efficient use for diners, permitting also to save storage space around 35%.
